DIAMONDS HELP SEAL THE DEAL. IS IT DESTINY OR FREE WILL?

Where has the past year gone? Why it seems only yesterday the sun was beating down on our necks on a blazingly HOT golf course. Now bundled in sweaters, tights, and boots, we all are just trying to stay warm and comfortable.

So was it by chance those that chose to show up for last Thursday's meeting arrived at Deer Creek were there for a reason? A purpose? Was it because our speaker was Alan Goodheart of Goodheart's Jewelry Co.? Was it DESTINY that you made the meeting, or a FREE WILL choice that you rolled over in bed? That's what Alan discussed and later proved to us on Thursday.

Everyone has a story, and Alan is no different. Being born in a small Missouri town (Sedalia, MO.) was the best upbringing one could ever wish for. He attended and graduated from University of Missouri in Columbia, and worked his first job at Famous-Barr Department stores in St. Louis as an Assistant manager in Cookware and small appliances. He then took a job getting back into jewelry and moving to KC in 1978. Working for a leased department at Stix Baer & Fuller, then onto a high end Guild jewelry store on the Country club Plaza, he worked alongside what came to be his mentor, Gale Grossman. His father past away in 1986, and that lead to he and his brother, Bruce to open their first store in Overland Park.

DIAMONDS HELP SEAL THE DEAL

For those of you still not familiar, Goodheart's Jewelry is a full service store that buys and sells gold and diamonds, colored stones, does custom designing, jewelry repairs, jewelry appraisals, and insurance replacement quotes. Jewelry is your 3rd most expensive purchase you will make in your lifetime, so it is good that you take your time to find a jeweler that you can trust and that educates you about your items or what you are purchasing.

Three very important things that Alan and his brother possess are education from taking courses and from daily experience working with clients, the technical skills needed to answer the tough questions, on the job experience, and great people skills that allow them to be able to handle most any situation that arises when it comes to customer service.

It is vitally important to make sure you have proper insurance coverage for your jewelry items. Check you deductibles and make sure items over $1500 each are listed separately on your policies. And you need to maintain your jewelry, like cleaning. You can do it yourself with a mixture of 1/2 water and 1/2 ammonia in a small jar. Clean with an old toothbrush, and rinse off (careful – don't send your rings down the drain!). You should check you prongs and stones every 6 months, or at the very least, every year. And have jewelry be the LAST THING YOU PUT ON, AND THE FIRST THING YOU TAKE OFF!

Jewelry is not an investment – it is a miracle of nature, a thing of beauty, a piece of art. Therefore, it should be work to enjoy showing it off, and not try and re-sell it. Find what you like, and wear it – show it off. Love it!

Alan hopes that each and everyone in the Club has a very Magical Holiday season. May all your wishes come true, and may each of us find our Destiny in who we love, and what we love to do.
