I'd Rather Be.....

I'd rather be a could-be if I cannot be an are;
Because a could-be is a maybe who is reaching for a star.
I'd rather be a has-been than a might-have-been, by far;
For a might have-been has never been, but a has was once an are.

You Learn From The Cows That The Grass Is Always Greener Across From Where You Are.

Ever hear that expression? The grass is always greener? Most of us find it to be untrue as we live our lives. But some take it to heart, and build a life, a career around such a small saying. Such may have been the case with Ken Eidson of Wells Fargo Securities.

You see, Ken grew up on a dairy farm, and looked out over his pastures each day, thinking about who he wanted to grow up to be. It was that drive his parents instilled in him. A good work ethic, and the will to succeed. Ken has always taken charge of destiny, and given his all to any task he has undertaken.

He began in business selling religious reading materials, thus giving him the business acumen necessary to pursue his dreams later in life. He learned to run his own business, to budget, and learned a lot! He held other jobs he both loved and hated. All working towards a bigger goal. Friends he sold books with told him of an opportunity as a financial counselor using similar sales techniques, but selling different products. "What the heck – I can do that."

That was his attitude that led Ken to work for several major financial offices in the KC area, ending for now at WFS. Ken is passionate with his work, and has grown a small business into something to be very proud of.

But Ken will tell you that work is not everything. There is family, which he is so proud of as well. He has raised two daughters and has married them off, and are all employed.

But we found out these past few weeks that what else truly drives Ken is his passion for giving back to the community he serves. He has become deeply involved with an organization named Phoenix Family Housing. He has volunteered, and now serves it in several capacities, so much so that he recently was awarded a Distinguished Community Leader Award. Enough said. Ken loves supporting this and other causes here in the KC area.

Ken has served the Prospectors well, and continues to be a driving force in shaping our destiny.

Thanks Ken for keeping us all informed, educated, and assured in what the future holds for us all.
