Ever Tried Hailing A Taxi Cab In The Big City Before? It's Not Easy Sometimes.

No matter what age you are, all of us are thinking each day what we want to do with our lives. If you are younger, it is planning for a family, and having enough to take care of them, and plan for their education. If you have grown kids, it is maybe planning for weddings or the unexpected bump in the road. And if you are older, we begin to think about retiring and what you want to do when you are tired of working every day.

It's a journey – from point A to point B. If you're traveling, you hop in a taxi, and go from your hotel to a nice restaurant.

Financially, how do you get from point A to point B? You have that "taxi driver" in the form of a stockbroker / financial advisor, like Ken Eidson of RBC Wealth Management!

Ken's career in financial advising started back when he sold religious reference books in the South. There he learned about dealing with and listening to people. In 1983, a friend whom he worked with encouraged him to join and learn about financial planning, and he was off to the races.

Ken worked his way through several companies large and small, gaining clients, and building their portfolios. Some choices were good, and others were not. Through it all, he ended now with RBC, one of the 5 strongest banks in the world, and the largest bank in Canada. What is ironic is the people whom he began his career with at Dain Bosworth are now deeply involved with RBC here, so Ken has come full circle where he was over 35 years ago.

Ken has assembled a great staff, from both a Senior Broker at 85 years young, to a Junior broker of just 40 years, and both a Marketing / Social Media guru to his personal Assistant of more than 20 years. A group that will take him as far as he wants to go into the future.

Ever Tried Hailing A Taxi Cab In The Big City Before? It's Not Easy Sometimes.

In talking near the end of his speech about today's economy, he reminisced about the good times in 2013 when the markets rose nearly 30%, and where once we arrived in 2014, the markets have responded both up and down. We haven't seen a correction in at least 5 years (a correction usually can take as much as a 20% nosedive). This year has been a bit of a bumpy ride.

If trends hold true, a correction in the markets could take a toll of at least 20%, maybe more! We have not seen that in as much as 3 years.

Ken and his associates at RBC feel so fortunate to have the opportunity to serve your financial needs in the strictest of confidence. When life gets too confusing to do it all yourself, know that you can always call Ken and ask him any question – whether you're a client or not, he is glad to answer any of your questions. So give Ken a call! Ken – thanks for taking the time to answer our questions and be able to guide us in the right choices we all have to make some day.
