Honesty, Truthfulness, and a Strong Work Ethic Leads To Future Successes.

Each one of us has a vision, a path that we have in front of us. Some paths go downhill while others tend to follow and uphill, more difficult direction.

It is rare to hear any business person today speak the truth about where they are at on that “path”, and what it might take to get to the end of it. This is what the future of Belzer Carpet Cleaning is all about, and Dan Belzer expounded on how he is on the right path to success.

You see, Dan comes from experience and a great education. His father was a predecessor to Dan getting into the business. He had a strong work ethic, and sent Dan to Rockhurst HS where he learned both scholastic learning as well as becoming a well-rounded person with manners and a sense of courtesy and kindness and giving. This has been his torch these many years.

What makes Dan so well-rounded are his varied interests that help him build his character. In his younger years, he was a mortgage banker, and learned to play the drums at an early age. This turned into an opportunity to play in a KISS tribute band, a dream as well.

And there was a short 2-3 year period that he ended up working on a pit crew for a competitive racing team when he was just visiting and a crew member took ill.

All along, Dan kept his nose in the business with his Dad, and today, each of them runs their own clients under separate umbrellas. But being a one-man operation, Dan discussed working the truck and being the one that is responsible for answering all the calls. Now Dan is ready to take it to the next level. He realizes he can’t be on the truck and still out there networking, trying to find new business opportunities. Dan gladly says that he would rather be working “on my business” than “in my business”. But like us all, you will end up being the person that gets it done when it needs to get done.

Dan talked about different methods to clean your carpets, and stated that to his knowledge, the hot water extraction method is by far the best in today’s world. It is the one system with the right technique and the right chemicals, and with most carpet manufacturers, it is the only method used that is recognized to fulfill their warranties.

He uses a target pH level of 7 which is basically neutral, but ends up cleaning his carpets at a pH of 8, but he uses a detergentless cleaner as its principal agent. It may be more expensive, but it surely does the got on those last hard to clean stoves or countertops.

When asked who would be a good customer for Dan, he said….. Any homeowner with carpet.

Dan – we Thank You for what you've done for Prospectors in a very short time. If Dan calls you for some product, service, or advise, please give him your undivided attention and support. We'll all benefit from it in the near future.
