

Beauty Exists In Having Nature Help Express Our Deepest Emotions On So Many Levels.

Lately it seems that we have seen a new focus by our members when telling us about what they do. We still let members know WHAT they do, but we've started relaying stories about our backgrounds dating back to our childhood and early lives and how that has formed who we are today.

Such was just the case last week when we headed to see Das Hardin of Village Flower Company. Das, a longtime member of Prospectors, has had such a great track record serving the needs of his clients around the city. His expertise in flower arranging and in using his naturally given "green thumb" has yielded him much success in his endeavors.

He tells of getting where he is today by how it relates to his growing up away from the big city. He comes from a great, simple balanced lifestyle – kind of a small town mentality. He holds family values close to his heart. And his upbringing as a youngster is what gives him his values he strives to deliver in his life today.

During the year, Village Flower exudes a freshness and style that takes hours and hours to accomplish. You can feel the hard work that goes into making sure each plant, flower, or gift is shown in its best light. But come the Holidays, there is a floral explosion that takes place. The feeling is multiplied times three.

Trees are hanging upside down, you can hardly see the ceiling, and the walk-in case is exploding with aromas of freshly cut petals. There is not much else that creates that sensation to your brain.

Das has long been a purveyor of floral design for such life events as birthdays, anniversaries, weddings, deaths, births, "I'm sorry" days, and just about every other excuse you can imagine.

Das has worked so hard over the years to build his business, he now relies on Cindy Heckman to assist in much of the day-to-day activities that entail the business. Her focus is on sales, marketing, social media, and networking, while still keeping an eye out for what's new and exciting in their industry. Das does not know what he would do without her.

He still has lots of standing orders from offices, lawyers, and Mission Hills mansion owners. They love having fresh flowers delivered either weekly or bi-weekly to them.

Das tells us that this business is truly an expression of what his family upbringing taught him as a young lad. Kind of like do the right thing and treat your clients the way you want to be treated. This always has been a part of his business acumen.

Thanks Das for all you do for the Club and for making the giver or receiver of many different emotions. - Love, happiness, success, sorrow, thanks, or just because. Glad you are there for all of these.

Miss Jessica, guess what?

Santa came! Anthony said he wouldn't — but he did!

Thank you.

It was three weeks before Christmas when Sarah came to us. Eight months pregnant, she was working 30 hours a week at a local fast-food restaurant to support her family. Money was always tight, but with a baby on the way and no paid maternity leave, it was even more so now. Every extra penny she had was being saved so she could take care of her family once her newest child was born. She had tears in her eyes when she told us about trying to break it gently to her older children that Santa might not make it this year. Her youngest, Jonah, had looked at her and said "It's okay, Mommy. I already know. Anthony said that he probably wouldn't." His acceptance broke her heart, and ours.

She asked, "Can you help?"

And you did. Because of you, Santa found his way to Jonah's and Anthony's home as well as the home of 256 other children and seniors last year. Thank you.

Your generosity created magic: each child wondered how Santa knew what he or she wanted. Each senior wondered what he or she had done to deserve such kindness. Your caring did more than just brighten the holidays, it gave hope and brought joy to each of them. Thank you.

As this holiday season rapidly approaches, please help us make sure that Santa finds his way again.

How Adopt A Family and Adopt a Senior Work:

1. To adopt a family or senior for the holidays, complete our online sponsor form.
2. After receiving your sponsor form, we will contact you with a personalized profile of a family or senior that has been nominated for adoption. The profile provides you with a short biography of family or senior you're adopting as well as general information (names, ages and gender of the children) and a wishlist.
3. After you receive your wish list, go shopping!* You can buy anything or everything on the list - it's up to you.

4. Finally, deliver your gifts to Phoenix Family at 3908 Washington, Kansas City, MO by December 21, 2015. And we'll make sure your family or senior has them by December 24.

*Shopping not your thing? No worries, our "ghost shoppers" will do it for you. Just email us for more information.

Unable to able to adopt a family, but still want to help? Visit us online to learn about other ways you can help this holiday season.

On behalf of everyone we serve, thank you for creating a magical holiday season with us.

Sincerely,

Kimber

P.S. We have more than 280 children and seniors waiting to be adopted this holiday season.
