

PROSPECTORS BREAKFAST CLUB

Can Someone Combine Their Love of Pork Bellies with Tile, Granite, or Hardwood Flooring and Make a Living at It ??

Can one's life be defined by the foods they love? Hard to believe this to be true, but YES, it can happen.

For it seems having a large family to share your successes and losses is what helps form your priorities in life. This week's presenter hails from a family having 8 kids, and he himself has 3 daughters (a place in heaven for that alone).

What truly "floored" us was learning how food seems to be that driving force that bonds his family and friends. Rick Wolverton of Advanced Interiors has become that "foodie" that we all aspire to be.

Rick said how having such a large family caused them to make meal time where you came together as one and shared the day's activities. This is where he learned so much about life and dealing with emotions and personalities.

And Rick had numerous nicknames, most relating to foods he enjoyed – "Pickles" or "Gravy Train", some of his more well-known. But his Afro style hairdo got him the nickname "Fuzz", and playing sports competitively earned him the title of "Wolf".

Rick has developed both as a person and as a business owner through working hard in his life and playing hard too. You need a bit of both to be a well-rounded individual.

He began teaching and along with this, he loved to coach and teach younger kids the right way to play so many different sports. That was his passion in his younger years. Always spending whatever time he needed to make a difference in someone's life. You don't find that veracity and style in many people these days.

He took a job working for Payless Cashways and that got him involved with home products and services. His brother had purchased a carpet franchise business, and Rick joined him, and after a brief period, he ended up buying his share of the business, and Advanced Interiors was started.

Rick has grown his company over the years by concentrating on floor treatments, from all styles of carpeting to hard wood floors and also the different manufactured versions on the market today. There are now hundreds of designs to choose from for almost any functional purpose. He was recently awarded "Best Kitchen Design" by NARI, the industry standard bearer. He also does tile floors as well as tile in kitchens, granite flooring and countertops and other alternatives to granite and stone and tile that's out there too.

They take on small home remodel projects to major commercial jobs involving thousands of square yards of carpeting. Homes, businesses, hotels, theatre complexes – no job too small or large!

Rick certainly tries to have fun whenever possible and is so proud to be a Prospector! More so than just friends or mentors that he has, there are relationships that make his business and his life so special.

Thanks Rick for your service as President this year, and for all you do to make this Club so great. You are thick sliced, smoked, marinated, and cured all in one package!
