

PROSPECTORS BREAKFAST CLUB

No Matter What Sound Your Car is Making, There is Probably a Solution to Make It Better, But You Gotta Know What Those Sounds Mean in Order to Diagnose It Right.

Kansas City is big enough to be investing in mass transportation. We've got buses and light rail now. Unlike the east coast, there are no trains, subways, or teleports yet. It is because we are much more of a community based city. Those that work downtown or midtown usually live in the suburbs heading in many directions. We mostly return to our homes after a long day's work, and we get there by driving our automobiles or motorcycles.

Not many utilize mass transit. We depend on our cars to get us to work, the grocery, to get kids to sports, parties, or work. What if your car is not working today? What do you do? Who do you call? You better have Alan Heriford or Johnson County Automotive on speed dial and on your cell. You never know when the need will arise.

Talk about a need rather than a want. If you have car problems, you NEED help NOW. It's good to know someone that has the experience and training to help make your crisis less painful.

Alan H. has been around cars all his life. In fact, he says he was "born to fix cars". You see, his lineage speaks for itself – both his father and grandfather could fix most anything. Alan loved taking things apart when he was a kid and seeing if he could put them together. He started working at a "service station" because you actually got service back then when he was just 14. Some of the best training he got was hands-on working on cars and engines.

He claims that his father gave him his hard work ethic, and his mother gave him his sense of humor. Alan said what drives him to success every day is his family. Three kids that are as different as the coins in your pocket. He stays on top of sports and supports them in whatever they choose to participate in. He also has become an aficionado of the pop concert scene here in KC, having attending several Taylor Swift concerts with his daughter. And his 6 year old son keeps him on his toes and smiling ear to ear.

Johnson County Auto was owned at one time many years ago by a former Prospector member Judy Moeder; it was bought by Alan just a mere 14 years ago.

He loves tackling problems other cannot fix. And he has found that in order to streamline his business, he prioritizes what needs to be done and works to accomplish it. What many people don't do in this industry – Alan does. He gives them a professional opinion of what's wrong and what needs to be done to fix it. If they do it, fine. If not, he knows that down the road they will be coming back to get it done correctly. He even offers a 24,000 mile warranty on all major repair work they do.

A sunny Thursday at JoCo Auto !

Listening to all the Thank You's this morning.

Listening to the Boss' words of wisdom.

A few of those that help make it happen every day.

This is "The Boss."

Jack Brown excited about getting his first car.

"So Zach, I need my own website and secure servers for sure." said Jack Brown.

Ikea West – such a nice, subtle Johnson County color !!

Trivia Question:-

What is North America's most popular snack food ?

QUOTE OF THE WEEK

The bouncing sport featuring kabooms and swivel hip seat drops is known as trampolineing.

Technology has taken the auto industry by storm, and JoCo Auto is no exception. They have the latest in laptops and software to help diagnose the issues effecting your car, and modules to read the internal computer that sits near the engine. He says he has over $50,000 in equipment to talk to your car's computers.

And nothing is for free – he does not put in the back end and charge you after the fact. If you want to know what's wrong, it'll cost you, but rest assured that it is done accurately and correctly, with computers and brains packed with years of expertise. All he wants to do at the end of the day is help people. The less you make it about money, the more money you will make. Take care of your clients and the money will come.

Alan closed by telling us one of his long-term dreams was owning real estate. It took him nearly 14 years, but he now owns the building his business is in, as well as the one to the south.

This business continues with more daily adventures than you can count. There is only great things that lie ahead for a budding entrepreneur and his band of marry men and women that help him shine. Be glad that we have someone so blessed to continue to do what he was born to do. Thanks Alan for being there and also your great service making Prospectors one of the best breakfast clubs around.

Father Phil says that his son, Nick Giordano is doing much better considering what he has been through these past few weeks. Please keep Nick and Phil Giordano and the entire Giordano family in your prayers. You can follow his progress on Facebook in Inside PBC (private group) - <https://www.facebook.com/groups/642077579258061/>
