

Possibly the Second Most Beautiful Thing God Created.....

When God created Heaven and Earth, he wanted each of us to see every day what he orchestrated. The beauty that surrounds us and changes if we get tired of a season, we just wait a month or two. Everything from water which bears microorganisms to flowers, plants, and trees. And even animals and us humans.

As one looks at the beauty outside your window, you wonder who the conductor is that can help with this "symphony" of plants and animals, trees and the power to help us breathe and survive. You need a true "musician" who can take what God has given us and make it even more beautiful. This prophet if you will, could only be called by name - Felici Giordano, better known to most as Phil Giordano of Grade A Tree Care.

Phil has come to love his profession after growing into it over the years. Suffice it to say he began as we all did working a job instead of building a business. In his early days he, like most of us, put his time in and worked hard for his money. He was proficient in many skills he learned from his family, and on the job training in life. People began asking if he could help them clear some brush and trim some trees. One or two jobs grew into working long days and even some weekends, earning nice sums for the work he was doing.

Phil eventually realized this may be his calling - helping Mother Nature with her beauty. This led him to take on a partner which always proves great at first but eventually caused him to buy him out and owning Grade A Tree himself. He now was the "man" - the maestro.

We make musical references only because of Phil's true passion, that being his love of music. From a young lad, he was blessed to have an ear for song, and the ability to play from the heart. He translates that love to his work as well. He was a risk taker all his life from youngster to today.

Phil has found the world of networking has been a most beneficial part of his business growth. Besides Prospectors, he is members of quite a few other groups because he wants to surround himself with as many business minds and professionals as he can.

He cannot say enough about his relationships he has with us. When times were tough, he found strength from us. And when life threw him another curve with his son, Nick, again we were there. After coming out of lung transplant surgery, Phil feels so blessed to see the progress Nick has made in such a short time. No doubt it came from our prayers and blessings and just being there as a sounding board for him.

When he's not dealing with family or networking or following up on his daily schedule, he is looking for future referrals from property managers of apartments or commercial properties, and anyone who owns rentals or even their own home. All are possible clients for him. And Phil's one best tip he gave out was to have your trees trimmed during winter time when they are dormant and have fewer leaves on them.

So make sure your little slice of heaven is well taken care of and have Grade A Tree out to make sure your home is safe, you have good shade, that diseased trees are removed, so you will have the beauty Mother Nature intended outside your windows for many years to come. Thank you Phil for your skills, your guidance, and your inspiration for living life to its fullest.
