What's the very first thing you notice about someone as you first meet them? You'd think it would be their eyes, but ask someone what color your eyes are? You know what it is? It's their SMILE!

We all need to keep a beautiful smile going when we are around strangers, friends, and those we love. That's why it is so important to take care of the teeth you have. But not just cosmetically. It is truly a health issue. If you have teeth that are not healthy, you will feel the wrath of sickness and despair.

Who should you see if this is the case? Well, we hope you have a dentist you are going to, but if not, you need to be. We have one to consider first – Tyler Webb DDS.

When you were a little kid, did you ever imagine what you wanted to be when you grew up? (Editor - I wanted to be a garbage man 'cause I liked the truck when it came by.)

Tyler had that dream. He wanted to be a dentist because when he went to see Bert Oettmeier DDS, he actually enjoyed the experience. He liked how Bert treated him. He even told Bert at a very young age this is what he wanted to be, and even drew a picture of him being a dentist. His mother gave that to him upon his graduating dental school.

A lot happened between then and when he graduated. He did well in school we assume because he was surrounded by educators and teachers. His parents and other family members chose a great profession helping those that wanted to learn. It was their calling.

Tyler grew up as quite an active person. His parents and grandparents introduced him to the great outdoors. He loved camping, fly fishing, and tons of sports – basketball, football, golf, soccer – to name just a few. In fact his first job was working on a golf course.

He usually did very well with his studies, finishing in at least the top 20% of his class. He headed to Kansas State U as both a pre-dental and Business Administration major.

He met Erin, the love of his life, while filling his brain with knowledge and future plans. What a great person to share a life with. They now have a son who you can tell they are so proud of.

Tyler came to Prospectors several years ago and joined us as an Associate Member. This helped give him such a wonderful perspective of the real world and allowed him to begin to nurture relationships with us before he eventually took over Bert's practice last year. Bert is still active in the office setting, but on a very limited basis. It is what he wanted for himself, and Tyler appreciates him still taking an interest in his success.

Trivia Question:-

Who portrayed Mrs. Robinson in the movie The Graduate?

QUOTE OF THE WEEK

The male praying mantis loses his head (on his body) after mating with a female. He literally falls head over heels for her.

Tyler says that he does mostly what other dentist offices do – dental hygiene, exams, fillings, crowns, root canals, extractions, bridges, and so much more. Sometimes it is necessary to refer certain procedures that are too complicated for him, and his patients understand.

What sets him apart from other dentists is his propensity for what he calls “compassionate care”. This comes from his mentor who followed this same philosophy. Tyler says that we “take our time. We are in no rush to get to the next patient”, unlike what he called “Corporate Dentistry” that is solely dedicated to serving as many people through the chairs as they can, forced to produce and maximizing profits at the cost of superior care and dedication to their patients. You won't find that at this office!

So know that no matter what condition your teeth are in, you have a choice to get Tyler's opinion or allow him to help diagnose an ongoing issue you may be having with your mouth and all that encompasses.

We are so fortunate to have Tyler as a part of Prospectors and know that here rests the future of our Club in his hands. Thank you Tyler for your honesty, your commitment, and your friendship to this group. We hope to see you down the road like we have experienced with Bert these many years. Here's smiling at YOU.
